

HARRY ALLARD

JAMES MARSHALL

"Now settle down," said Miss Nelson in a sweet voice.

But the class would not settle down.

They whispered and giggled.

They squirmed and made faces.

The kids in Room 207 were misbehaving again.
Spitballs stuck to the ceiling.
Paper planes whizzed through the air.
They were the worst-behaved class in the whole school.

"If all teachers looked as goofy as Mr. Marshall makes these two, the earth would never again have a truancy problem." —The New York Times

#6.99

ISBN-13: 978-0-395-40146-0
ISBN-10: 0-395-40146-1

4-80430