Do you ever have a worry that won't go away? What is a worry, anyway?

A worry is a thought that stops you from having fun, from feeling good, from being happy.

Don't bother looking for a worry because you'll never find it. It is invisible.
But it seems very real.

What if a herd of 100 thirsty elephants comes to tea but you don't have any tea bags? Why, offer them lemonade instead! This title addresses common childhood worries—a bully, a first day at school, and a monster residing under the bed—with the not-so-common worries—an eagle making a nest in your hair, a rhino in the neighborhood, and a herd of elephants waiting for their tea. This entertaining and humorous use of perspective and creative problem-solving will help children deal with a universal issue in a new and innovative way!

"Highly fun and thought-provoking, this worry-less book is a must for today's over-stressed kids." —Copley News Service
