

HOW & WHY BIRDS USE THEIR BILLS

How & Why Birds Use Their Bills

A tern sees danger. It opens its bill wide and calls out a warning.

A sparrow opens its bill and pours out a song.

A bird's bill is its mouth, but it is also a wonderful tool. Birds use their tough, hard bills to grab and eat food, carry things, build nests, clean their feathers, and do many other jobs.

