

Stink

The Incredible Shrinking Kid

Megan
McDonald

illustrated by
Peter H. Reynolds

Shrimp-o!

Runtsville!

Shorty Pants!

Stink was short. Short, shorter, shortest. Short as an inchworm. Short as a . . . stinkbug!

Stink was the shortest one in the Moody family (except for Mouse, the cat). The shortest second-grader in Class 2D. Probably the shortest human being in the whole world, including Alaska and Hawaii. Stink was one whole head shorter than his sister, Judy Moody. Every morning he made Judy measure him. And every morning it was the same.

Three feet, eight inches tall.

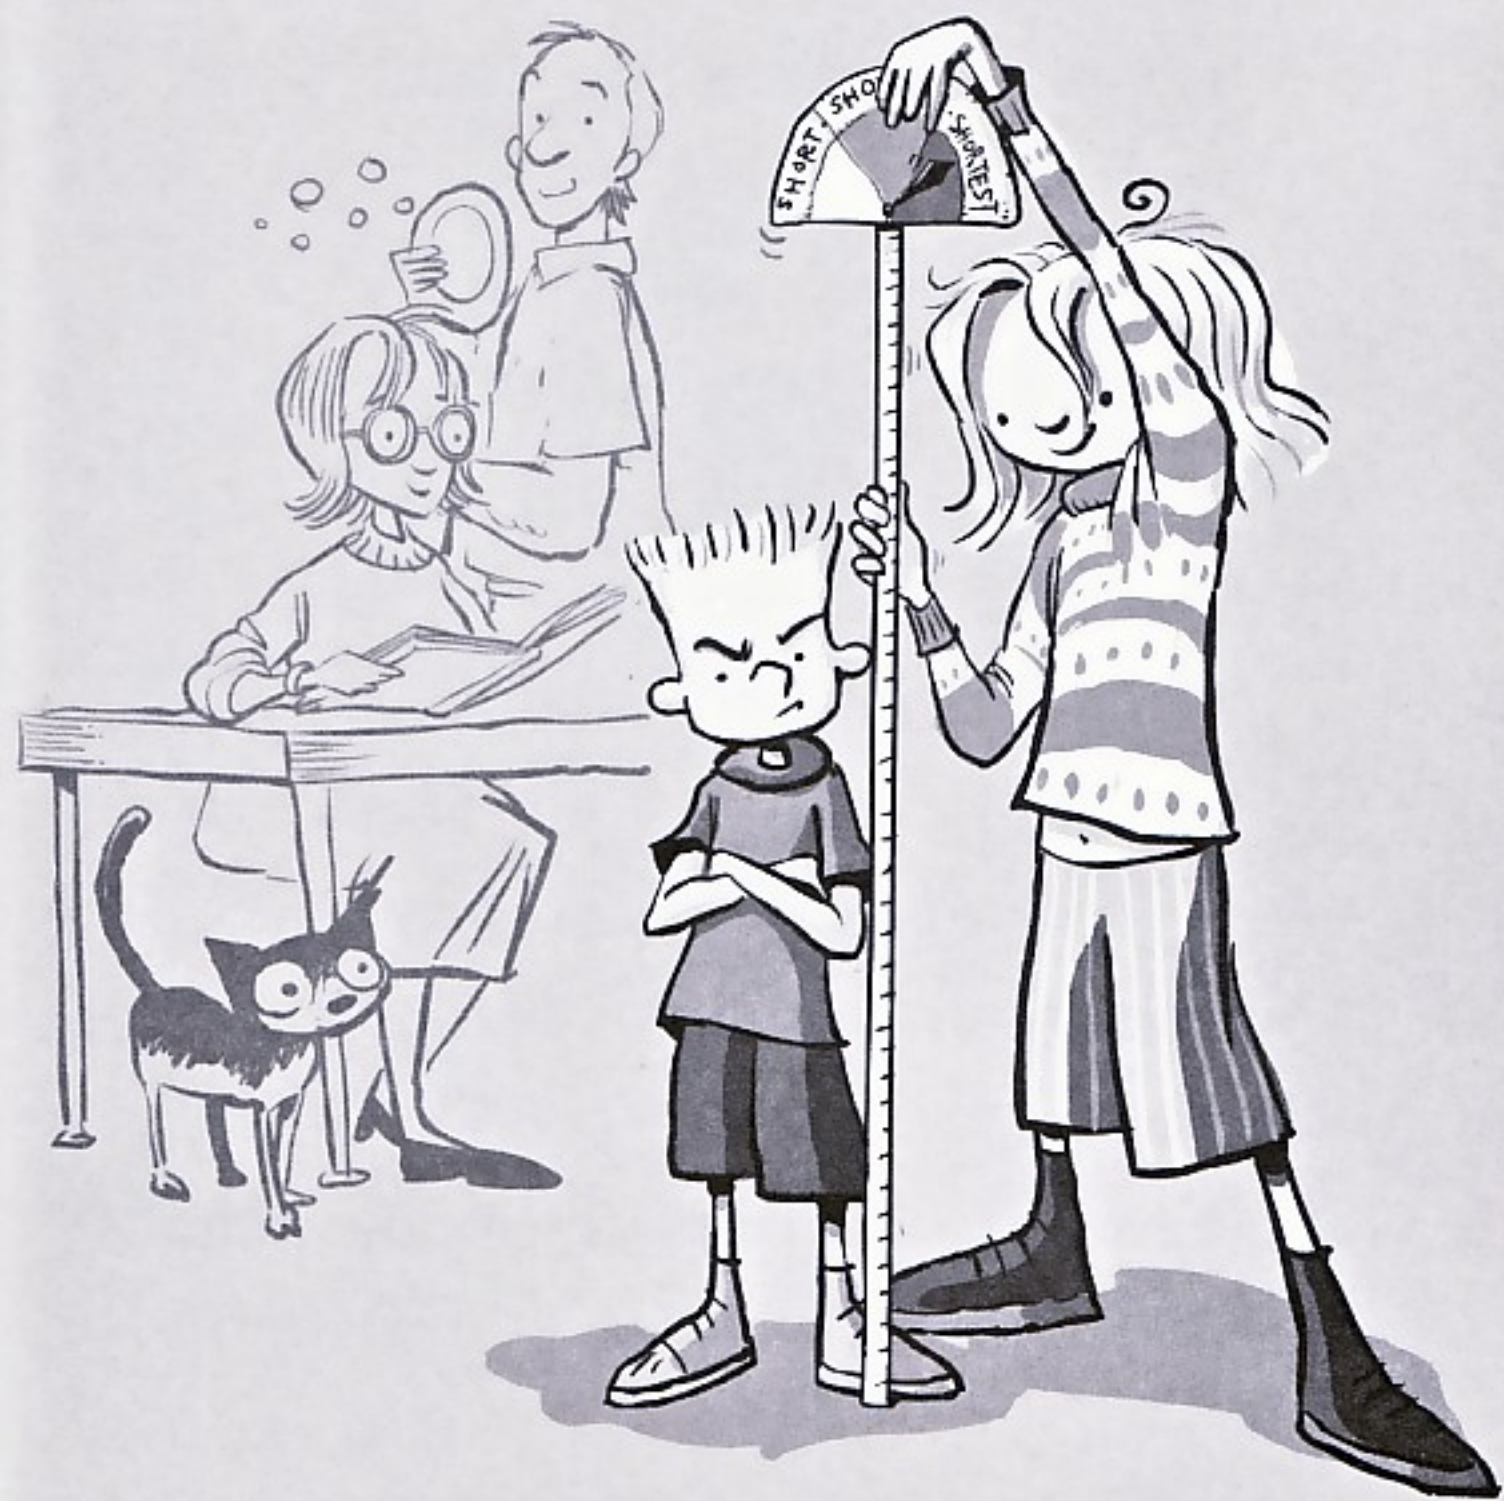

Shrimpsville.

He had not grown one inch. Not one centimeter. Not one hair.

He was always one head shorter than Judy. "I need another head," he told his mom and dad.

"What for?" asked Dad.

"I like your head just the way it is," said Mom.

Every morning, Judy measures Stink, and it's always the same: three feet, eight inches tall. Even the class newt is growing faster than he is. Then one day, the ruler reads three feet, seven and three quarters inches! Can it be? Is Stink shrinking?

The creators of the award-winning Judy Moody series have, by popular demand, put themselves in a very Stink-y mood.

"Judy Moody lovers (and their little brothers) will adore her younger brother, Stink."

—Seattle Times

"'Things are definitely looking up, up, UP' with this bright addition."

—School Library Journal

STINK HAS HIS OWN WEBSITE!

Check it out at www.stinkmoody.com

Cover illustrations copyright © 2005 by Peter H. Reynolds

Ages 5–8
0506

CANDLEWICK PRESS
www.candlewick.com

U.S. $4.99 / $6.00 CAN

ISBN 978-0-7636-2891-8

9 780763 628918 5 0499>

EAN

