

A detailed photograph of a squirrel with grey and brown fur, sitting on a rough tree branch. The squirrel is holding a small acorn in its paws and looking towards the right. The background is dark and out of focus, with some autumn leaves visible at the top.

TREE

IN A

LOOK ONCE LOOK AGAIN

SCIENCE SERIES

Creative Teaching Press

by David M. Schwartz photographs by Dwight Kuhn

LOOK ONCE

This hand is made for climbing trees and for holding seeds and nuts.

LOOK AGAIN

Their long nails help
red squirrels climb tall trees.
Squirrels collect fruit and nuts.
Acorns are their favorite food.

Squirrels do not eat
all of their food right away. They hide
some for another day.
Sometimes they cannot find all the acorns they have hidden.
Those acorns may grow into oak trees.

LOOK ONCE

Whooooooooo has such big, wide eyes
that help it see in the dark?

