

Martin Luther King, Jr.

by David Bauer

“I have a dream,” said Martin Luther King, Jr.

He dreamed that people of all races could live together.

Once laws separated people of different races.